Brent,

Chairman Leahy sent USCIS Director Rodriguez a letter requesting the average processing time for a project's initial Form I-526 petition. We'll let you know as soon as we have a response. Thanks again.

Susan, David and Chris,

Is it possible for Senator Leahy to make an official inquiry into how long the average approval time for the initial (first) I-526 actually is? The 13.2 month processing time is seriously misleading. That the Trapp project hasn't even been assigned an adjudicator after more than 15 months is an indication of how misleading it is.

Other regional centers are marketing that they have been assured "fast track I-526 approval" because their project is a matter of national security. The Louisiana RC project is one that comes to mind. I've personally heard a rep of the project make the statement publicly, and they are actively marketing this.

Other RCs are targeting and poaching VT EB-5 RC project's investors by stating the project is likely going to be denied since they haven't received an approval within the USCIS' posted average marketing time. At least if we know the true initial I-526 processing time we can defend our projects from less ethical RCs who are using USCIS' stated data to try and poach investors.

The VT Digger article is reverberating in China. Competing RCs are using it against us and our projects. The article was far from fair or well investigated. Already, Investors are pulling out of projects they signed up for and agents are canceling seminars for non Jay Peak projects.

Knowing the actual 1st I-526 processing average would be of great help in defending our projects. It's something that should already be being tracked anyways to provide better transparency and ensure proper management of the program.

Kind regards,

Brent
